Laura M. Burbridge, Owner.

Dear friends:

Once again we are approaching the Iris Season, and what a wonderful feeling it is. Old and new Iris will make their appearance in our gardens, and right along with them will come old and new friends.

Perhaps this is ONE of my reasons for loving Iris as I do. In this hurry-up world of ours it is often difficult to find time for our friends, but when spring rolls around and our two acres of Iris burst into a fairyland of rainbow colors, I know they will beckon in not only old friends but new friends. With me they will spend long hours wandering through the gardens or sitting under shady trees, discussing our favorite subject: the Iris.

Your letters, postcards, and Christmas greetings, in 1952 were very gratifying. I assure you that I will endeavor to live up to your expectations, and the standard I've set; shipping only disease free, accurately named, and well developed rhizomes.

If, however, you have any complaints about any shipments in 1953, I hope you'll let me know about them. Only by satisfying customers, and correcting errors can I hope to succeed in this business.

Sincerely,

LAURA BURBRIDGE.

Louisiana Iris

These beautiful perennials, originating in the Louisiana swamps are fascinating, and very satisfactory in most localities. I don't baby them but, through experience, found they thrive in semi-shade, and porous, enriched soil. The planting should be shallow; merely cover the rhizomes then sift over them a mulch of peat moss or compost. They are hungry and thirsty plants, so water them well, especially through growing and pre-blooming season, and feed them lots of well seasoned steer manure.

BAYOU SUNSET	2.00
